

A Hole In One

At a recent Assembly Democratic Fundraiser, Tom Moore made an "ugly" shot that turned into something beautiful!

An Assembly Democratic Fundraiser was sponsored by Mike Sheridan and held at the course on June 24, 2008. The prize bike was driven away as a "consolation" for making a Hole in One on #2.

Glen Erin Golf Club, an 18-hole daily fee golf course opened to the public in the spring of 2003. Glen Erin literally means "Ireland's Valley", reflecting the unique rolling terrain and the prominent vale that runs through the site. The name is also a tribute to the proud Irish heritage of the Janesville community and an affirmation of the "little bit o' Irish" in all of us.

This 6,806 - yard golf course will have a distinct Old Irish flavor with wide firm undulating fairways, immense greens, pot bunkers, sandy waste areas and native fescues in the outer rough. Prominent stone walls framing the entranceway speak to a simpler time, and an ancient game with a rich history and tradition.

Sitting atop the promontory of a majestic ridge, the clubhouse will enjoy spectacular views of the golf course and the 18th green below. Inside, you will find an intimate Irish pub atmosphere where golfers will be able to eat, relax, and even enjoy a pint of Guinness by the fireplace.
